Unless a further adjustment of some kind can be made in the budget of the village, the residents will pay the highest tax rate in the county during the coming year. Our officials were before the county budget commission Tuesday evening in Lisbon, but returned without having the budget adjusted. Only in cases of emergency does the state law permit a higher rate of taxation than 15.50 mills and Washingtonville has an emergency to look after in the building of the new schoolhouse some time ago. The lowest rate of taxation yet voted out for the village is 18.15 mills but it is hoped in some way to reduce this after further investigation.

them. Hence many of them will attend the Ohio State University this winter to take a special course in farming.

It is a source of relief to the average married man that the jelly and canning season is drawing to a close. He sees no reason for these home-made condiments, with sugar at 8c a pound, when the same goods can be had at groceries for the price of the sugar, to say nothing of the fruit and the empty cans. I think I can prove my point by J. C. Eyster, J. S. Davis, J. E. Gilbert, O. Bossert and every married man in Washingtonville.

The other day I met a man in our pottery whom I mistook for "Delich" Summerville, and later I saw one who resembled Walter Bowman, and I asked him about Elmer.

Labor Day was a blank in Carrollton, much like the average Sunday. No rural mails, no games, no races, no games of ball, and those who desired to see Labor Day parades went to other and larger towns.

Rev. Jason B. Manley is preparing to attend the Methodist annual conference in Steubenville Tuesday, Sept. 12. The church building here is much like the one at Canfield; the pastor gets $1500 a year, with parsonage, gas, electric lights and water. Many of the members desire a change of pastors every two years.

The adjoining counties draw largely upon Carroll county for teachers. Miss Wilma Dunlap has been teaching in Youngstown for several years. Stark county has 24 of our teachers; Jefferson has 6; and Tuscarawas 15.
